

Christmas Card Competition.

Member of Parliament for Barnsley East Stephanie Peacock MP would like to invite Darfield Outwood Academy pupils to take part in my annual competition to design my official Christmas card. Every year the competition shows the creativity and talent of young people in the area.

The card, made with the winning design, will be sent to local businesses, civic leaders, voluntary groups and politicians across Barnsley and Westminster.

Winners from each school will be chosen and be named the 'school winner'. Winners from each participating school will then be shortlisted, and the final design will then be chosen to be my Christmas card design. However, all the school winners will have their design included within the card, along with their name and school.

In December, the winner and runners up from the schools will be awarded prizes and certificates.

If you would like to take part in the competition it will run from now until Friday 27th October with applications accepted up until the deadline. Designs should be submitted on white A4 paper.

To avoid any potential confusion, please could the artist's full first name, the first initial of their surname, class, year group and the name of their school be clearly written on the back of their design.

This competition is set as a voluntary homework task. Please hand your designs in to your class teacher if you wish to take part.

Good Luck!
